“ Your mother was so kind to me.....we have a small peach farm in the valley, and I first met her and Mr. Sullivan at the courthouse--she was selling blueberries and produce from their mountain farm. She began a delightful conversation with me that continued every summer. When I no longer sold peaches at the courthouse, but at our valley farm, she would come and find our peaches and purchase some. She talked fondly of her family and the Sunday meals she always prepared. I always admired her love and devotion to her family. Her kindness to me was valuable and her love for a family was something I desired to emulate. God blessed you with her--may His blessings of comfort and peace be with you as you begin this journey of living your life with only her memories inside you heart.

With prayer,
