“ I became friends with Joann when Jennifer was in my third grade class. Joann volunteered to help the students use our classroom computer. She was so encouraging to me as a teacher. Through the years I would stop at her house for a visit or go by Merle Norman.

She always kept me updated on Jennifer. Jennifer was such a delightful student who worked hard and loved to read. Both Joann and Rod supported Jennifer and encouraged her. I always admired how they raised Jennifer and I knew Jennifer would be a wonderful parent, because she had such good role models.

I would often call Joann for a recipe since she was such a great cook. I still make her red velvet cake because it is a real hit with my family and friends.

I knew I could always share my struggles and thoughts with Joann. She was a Christian friend who I will miss dearly. I will miss her smile, all the talks, laughing with her, and sharing pictures of Elizah and my grandkids.

My hope is in the Lord so I know I will see my friend again. My last text was "I love you!" I know she knew she was loved, and I'm glad I had the chance to tell her one more time.
