“ My Momma; I have so many memories, 57 years of them. In the last couple of months when she was recouping from the accident, we would work the "word search" puzzles together, I would make her breakfast so she would have something to eat after dialysis and my favorite time was when I would help her from the wheelchair to her bed we would have "our hug" and I would hold her and tell her "I love you, momma" and she would say " I love you, too baby". You raised 5 handsome/beautiful children, Thanks for being my momma. I miss you so.
