“ I didnt know Mr. Davis nor anyone related to him. I volunteer my personal time in posting comforting words in this time of hardship. By reading his obituary, lots of his immediate family members passed away leaving him suffering every time. The last ones to survive usually suffers the most. I know that feeling, I'm the last one still alive. All my immediate family members have passed away leaving a bitter taste in life for a long time. But I've found comfort in strengthening my relationship with the man upstairs, God. As we gets closer to him, he gets closer to us. Him being by our side, he will support anyone and everyone that is suffering for the absence of Mr Davis. The key in recieving Gods support, is by reaching out to him first (James 4:8). Reach out to him by praying and reading the Bible on a daily basis and you will find soothing words. My condolences to everyone.
